Art Unit: 2686

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S. C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. The information disclosure statement filed reference listed in the information Disclosure submitted on 01/24/01 have been considered by the examiner (see attached PTO-1449).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-5, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kalbermatter et al. (US Patent Number (5,508,978).in view of Teres (US Patent Number 5,812,548)..

Regarding claim 1, Kalbermatter teaches a crystal in particular for a telephone watch (see figure 4, numeral 2, col 2 lines 7-26) including a keyboard 13 disposed under a lower face of the surface, said crystal including a thick zone 5 and a thinned zone (the surrounding area, col 5 lines 28-36), the keyboard 13 being deposited in the thinned zone (surrounding area, col 3 lines 26-37). Kalbermatter fails to specifically mention that the entire surface of telephone watch is crystal, and the keyboard formed in particular of a plurality of capacitive sensors. However Teres teaches a wrist watch wherein the entire surface is crystal (col 2 lines 31-41), and a keyboard formed in particular of a plurality of capacitive sensors (col 1 lines 21-27). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to combine the above teaching of Teres with Kalbermatter, in order to reduce the dimension of telephone to the point that it can be carried on the human body and at the same time avoiding pressing several keys at the same time.

Regarding claim 2, Kalbermatter teaches a telephone watch wherein the thinned zone (surrounding area) is arranged on the side of the crystal lower face (see figure 4, col 3 lines 29-37).

Regarding claim 3, Kalbermatter teaches an apparatus wherein the thick zone 5 is disposed at its center and in that the thinned zone (surrounding area) is disposed at its periphery (see figure 4, col 3 lines 29-37).

Regarding claim 4, Kalbermatter teaches an apparatus wherein it is round wherein the thinned zone (surrounding area) forms a ring under which the keyboard 13 is deposited (col 3 lines 29-37).

Regarding claim 5, Kalbermatter teaches a crystal telephone wristwatch 2 wherein the keyboard 13 includes a first decorative opaque layer formed of numbers and signs (64, 65) and deposited directly under the thinned zone (surrounding zone), and a second layer deposited under the first and formed of a plurality of conductive pads (col 4 lines 21-43), a conductive pads corresponding to each number (13) or sign (63, 64, col 3 lines 26-37), the conductive pads (blade 36, D track) being individually connected to a printed circuit 31 (see figure 5, col 4 lines 19-42).

Art Unit: 2686

5. Claim 6, is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kalbermatter et al. (US Patent Number (5,508,978).in view of Teres (US Patent Number 5,812,498), in further view of Born (US patent Number 5,500,835).

Regarding claim 6, Kalbermatter teaches wherein keyboard 13 being sandwiched between said thinned zone (surrounding zone) and a reinforcement (col 4 lines 19-42). The combination Kalbermatter and Teres fails to show a crystal watch wrist wherein it is secured onto a bezel including an inner reinforcement extending under the thinned zone of the crystal. However Born teaches show a crystal watch wrist 1 wherein it is secured onto a bezel 7 including an inner reinforcement extending under the thinned zone 7 of the crystal (see figure 1, col 2 lines 15-37). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to combine the above teaching of Born with the combination of Kalbermatter and Teres, in order to provide support for the movement of the watch, and enable the user to avoid pressing several keys on the keyboard at the same time.
